The one constant that we can always depend on is change and it resonates deeply within us. Change is inevitable, and an intrinsic part of our life. It is the defining feature of existence. As seasons pass and as we move from the chill of Winter into the blossoming of spring and into the warmth of Summer, I am reminded of the value for change. I look outside and see freshness and the emergence of new life everywhere, every day. Flowers bloom and it is almost as if the world is changing right before our eyes, renewing itself every single day. New beginnings are as important as introspections of the past for that is the essence of life, of who we are. We are made of our past and the present blended together with hope for the future.

To celebrate new beginnings and potential and creativity and expressions of self, the Department of English at Green Field World School is proud to begin the monthly newsletter, The Greenfieldite, a commitment to who we are, creative humans learning from the past and looking into the future. Join us as we embark on this enriching voyage, united by our shared passion for creative writing, poem writing, story telling and the timeless pursuit of knowledge.

*The wind lifted me
up into the trees,
where I danced
to the rhythm
of the evergreen,
swaying to the tune
of the northern breeze,
frozen in timeless melody.*

Fall down seven times, stand up eight

If milk gets bad, it becomes yoghurt. Yoghurt is more valuable than milk. It gets even worse, it turns to cheese. Cheese is more valuable than both yoghurt and milk. And if grape juice turns sour, it transforms into wine, which is even more expensive than grape juice. You are not bad because you made mistakes. Mistakes are the experiences that make you more valuable as a person. Christopher Columbus made a navigational error that made him discover America. Alexander Fleming's mistake led him to invent Penicillin. Do not let your mistakes get you down. It is not always practice that makes you perfect. Sometimes, it is mistakes we learn from that make us perfect.

Teacher: Why are you late today?

Student: Because of sign down the road.

Teacher: What does sign have to do with you being late?

Student: The sign said, "Go Slow, School Ahead".

Three friends stranded on a deserted island find a magic lamp. Inside it is a genie who agrees to grant each friend one wish.

"I want to go home," says the first friend. The genie grants her wish.

"I want to go home, too," says the second friend. And the genie sends her back home.

"I'm lonely," says the third friend. "I sure wish my friends were back here."

A tongue twister is a phrase that is designed to be difficult to articulate properly, and can be used as a type of spoken word game. Additionally they can be used as exercises to improve pronunciation and fluency.
